

I think it's important for adults to also receive vision, hearing and dental services. Most times when people must pay exorbitant costs out of pocket, they do not prioritize these crucial services.

Hearing assistance is important to keeping people engaged and healthy. Adequate vision assistance is likewise necessary for keeping individuals independent and SAFE when it comes to driving and we all know that dental problems can lead to calamitous outcomes for a patient's health if not dealt with in a timely manner.

Covering all of these services would be a proactive step in keeping our aging population as independent as possible.

Tracy Ray